DICK BLAND WANTS NO BOOM.

No Political Antagonism Between Him and Gov. Stone.

STANDING FOR A PRINCIPLE.

Efforts of Anti-Silver Organs to Misrepresent Events at Perte Springs Will Be Unavailing.

Gov. Stone left on the evening train yesterday for Jefferson City. He came to St. Louis on private business and was reluctant to talk politics, but when asked regarding the effort of the Republic to stir up trouble between himself and Mr. Bland he said:

"The effort to place Mr. Bland and myself in political antagonism is useless. I am Mr. Bland's personal and political friend. If he had wanted the endorsement of the editorial conference at Sedalia for President, I would have favored it. If he had wanted the endorsement of the Perte Springs Convention I would have favored that. At both places, however, I learned that he not only did not desire an endorsement, but would prevent it if it were attempted. He said to me the night before the meeting of the Perte Springs Convention that if a resolution of endorsement was introduced he would rise in his place and denounce it. His view (in which I concurred) was that it would be unfortunate to introduce any personal questions into a convention called for the vindication and affirmation of a principle.

"By a mere accident I learned that the Committees on Resolutions were engaged in discussing the question of endorsing Mr. Bland or myself for President. I sent for Mr. DeArmond, the Chairman of the committee, and told him that while I appreciated the compliment intended, I must positively forbid the use of my name in any such connection. I also advised that Mr. Bland be consulted before his name was used. He consulted before his name was used to Mr. Bland. As a result, the committee dropped the subject.

"For the same reason I requested the withdrawal of a resolution which had already been adopted by the committee, endorsing my administration. Of course, I appreciated highly the motive and friendly feeling that suggested it, but I felt that no name must be given for the charge that the convention had been called or encouraged for the promotion of personal ambitions.

"All things should come in their due order. The Perte Springs convention was called to express the sentiments of Missouri Democrats on the money question and to bring the party organization into harmony with the national convention. The party next spring to declare for candidates, and I say now, as I have said before, that if Mr. Bland desired an endorsement as a national candidate it would be my pleasure to bring it to him. For myself, I do not consider myself a candidate for any political office. The plans which I have formed preclude it."

WHAT BLAND SAYS.

There Is No Friction Between Him and Gov. Stone.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEBANON, Mo., Aug. 9.—Hon. R. P. Bland was seen this morning, and asked about the article in the St. Louis Republic of yesterday, alleging that there was a fight in the Committee on Reconstruction at the Perte Springs Convention to endorse him for President. To the inquiry Mr. Bland said:

"There was not a man who spoke to me at Perte Springs but me, and I was a candidate for President, for Governor, or anything else that I did not tell him emphatically that I did not tell him anything that I did not tell him, and that I was not a candidate for any political office. The plans which I have formed preclude it."

FOR CONTROL.

Gold Standard Men Fighting for the New State Committee.

The gold standard men are now scheming to get control of the reorganized State Central Committee. Francis' idea is to get a sufficient number of the new members of the committee into line to give him control of the Democratic party in the State.

If he succeeds in this he will declare that the committee was irregular and is not in order. The committee will then be induced to call a late convention and carry out the goldite scheme to defeat free silver, according to the program which has been carried out by the old State Committee had not the power to take it from it by the convention.

The goldite men are claiming that the members of the old State Committee, with this as a starting point, they assert that they will only have to secure five of the new members to get control of the Committee, and that it will be sold to the highest bidder at the annual unclaimed sale.

Alabama for Silver.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Congressman Bankhead of Alabama, who is in the city, was asked: "Are the people of Alabama settled in their views on the silver question?" He said: "Yes, if you will give me a dollar, I will win by six to one, and the sentiment is growing. I know of no change in the views of our people on that question."

State inquiring what influences can be brought to bear on the new members of the committee to land them in the gold camp.

Their plan is this: A letter is written, say to the First National Bank of Kansas City, asking if So and So does business with the bank. Then questions like these are asked: Do you hold any mortgages against him? Do you know anyone who has a claim on him? What is his influence over him? How can we bring him into line and get him to vote with us against the free silver movement? and other questions too numerous to mention.

In cases like this it is not deemed advisable for such letters to go direct from the offices of Francis or Maffitt; they are often known as friends of the party who the party who is supposed to have influence over the committee man. Francis desires to have these reached.

It is a short scheme to make the money power do the work which could not be done by the gold men openly and above board, but it is thought it can be successful. The gold standard committee were not selected hastily or without due care, and the choice was made in every instance between the friends of the committee named for the cause of silver. They were selected because they have been influential men in the communities they represent, and in their views on the silver question, it will be a clear case of barter and sale.

The Francis forces are claiming that Meers, Barber and Green will vote with them. They both held office under Francis. Mr. Green, the Governor, Mr. Green was appointed World's Fair Commissioner by Francis, but was continued in office by Gov. Barber, an ardent supporter of free silver and has an entire record in the cause of an implacable enemy of the single gold standard. His friends declare the goldite forces have, in this case, reckoned without their host. They are not likely to feel as friendly to Gov. Stone as he does to an ex-Governor, on the score of official recognition, and the gold standard for silver would prevent him from doing Francis bidding under any circumstances.

Committee men, they have had an appointment under Gov. Francis, but he is an ardent friend of free silver and the mere mention of his name in connection with that of the ex-Governor raises a protest from his friends.

As for the old State Committee thirteen men are antagonist claim for the gold men. Alex. Shoop, Wm. Salmon and Losier have voted against them in order to comply with the wishes of their constituents. The gold standard committee is not in favor of an endorsement of his cause from the Fifteenth District delegation at Perte Springs.

In the light of these facts it is scarcely possible that the Committee will be called together until the plans of the gold men are fully matured, and they are ready to spring their scheme or admit defeat.

WERE VERY BUSY MEN.

But on What They Were Busy Over Hangs a Tail.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter asked ex-Gov. Francis Wednesday what he thought of the Perte Springs Convention he threw up both hands and waved him off on the ground that he was too busy to talk about it.

Half an hour later the same reporter strolled into Judge Priest's office on the fifth floor of the same building, and to his surprise found the old judge busily engaged in consultation with Fred Lehman and Judge Priest. They had their heads close together and were animatedly discussing together and were animatedly discussing the affairs of the State Committee.

One of the trio heard the newspaperman enter and immediately there was a scuffle. Col. Lehman tried to hold back the ex-Governor followed suit. Then the lawyer led the way into another room, followed by Francis, while Judge Priest remained with the reporter. They had their heads close together and had a case which were very busy and had a case which would have to go into court at once.

They wanted a debate.

Effort to Arrange a Big Attraction for the Lone Jack Picnic.

One effort is being made to have the biggest attraction at the Lone Jack picnic this year that has ever been secured. The picnickers have been for years the leading social and political gatherings of Northwest Missouri.

The idea is to have a joint debate between prominent exponents of free silver and the single gold standard. The debate between some 100 Republican and a sound money man of the same party. Mayor Webster Davis of Kansas City, who was a member of the free silver Republicans whom Mr. Noel would like to pit against some sound money man.

Gov. Stone and Ex-Gov. Francis have both been invited. Mr. Noel says he will go. Mr. Noel will try to arrange a debate between the Governor and F. W. Lawler or Congressman Hall and ex-Congressman Champ Clark. The picnic will be held Aug. 12.

WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Mothers and Daughters of Lexington (Ky.) Hold a Convention.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 8.—Last evening the ladies of Lexington met in mass-meeting and nominated four candidates, one from each ward of the city, for the Board of Education to be elected at the November election. The first ward woman has been given a right to vote in Kentucky, but their suffrage is restricted to voting for members of the Board of Education. The man who was nominated was a widow, left over by Miss Laura Clay, daughter of the ex-Minister to Russia, Cassius M. Clay.

Ex-Senator Washburn Arrives.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Ex-Senator Wm. D. Washburn of Minnesota was a recent passenger on the North German Lloyd steamer "Lahm." Washburn was accompanied by his daughter. He was staying at the Avenue Hotel. He looked bronzed and healthy after his trip and said his outing had done him good, physically.

When he was asked about politics he said that he did not care to discuss public affairs, as he had been away so long. He said he was practically out of politics, anyway. He expects to go West in a day or so.

UNCLAIMED PROPERTY OF PRISONERS.

The corridor of the Third District Police Station resembled a section of a second-hand store Friday morning. Old trunks, carpets, household goods, revolvers, knives and other articles of value were piled in a big heap awaiting removal to the Four Courts. The pile represented the unclaimed property of the Third District.

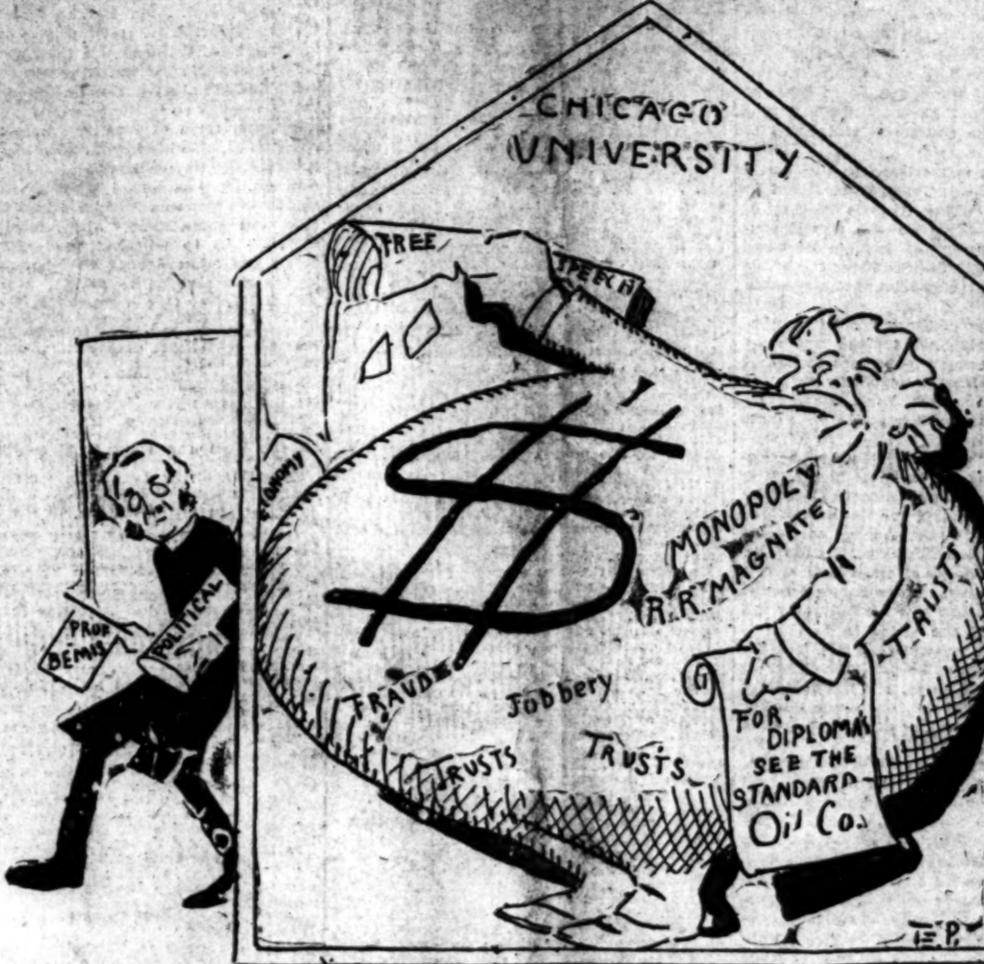

It will be sold to the highest bidder at the annual unclaimed sale.

The Brockway Gang of Counterfeitors Now Under Arrest.

GOVERNMENT CONFEDERATE.

Long Criminal Career of the Leader, Who Is Now 73 Years of Age.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—New facts which are constantly coming out about the Brockway gang of counterfeiters indicate that they are the cleverest men of their class in the record of crime. The cleverest of them all is old Brockway himself, now 73 years of age, whom the secret service operators are satisfied directed matters. No body but Brockway, they claim, would attempt to produce $500 and $100 United States 10 cent postage notes handled most exclusively by large banks, were ever so closely scanned by eyes well trained to catch the slightest defect. Brock-were held in only $5,000 each. Chief Hazen fears if her bond was not made very high that the bank of the gang would not be able to get it and spirit her away. She is no doubt familiar with all the secrets of the gang. She knows how the bogus money was sent out, who received it, and perhaps knows the Investigation shows that Brockway was the guiding genius of the gang, if he did not actually help engrave the plates. Wagner, who has learned engraving, is thought to be the master under his direction. Sidney Smith did the finer gravings.

The circular drawing done at Washington with a geometrical lathe, is imitated by the gang. The engraver's hand has become too unsteady for this, and Smith did not do it. Smith is the son of the notorious Charles Smith, who was a member of the Brockway counterfeiting famous $10,000 bonds, $30,000 of which were bought by Jay Cooke of Philadelphia.

The engraver, L. Smith, did the dainty work of inserting the milk fiber into the paper. Doubtless Brockway taught Mrs. Smith the clever method. She is said to be the only person supposed to know anything of the secrets of paper making. It was in this branch of counterfeiting he found his knowledge of chemistry, attained at Yale, of great value. Mrs. Smith was highly educated in her youth. She has a large family, and her husband, a chemist, is a graduate of Cornell University. She is a widow, and has had to support herself since the death of her husband.

THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE COUNTERFEITERS IN HOBOKEN.

way counterfeited a $1,000 Government bond back in the sixties, that took the Treasury experts six months to decide whether it was spurious or genuine.

The Secret Service men are interested at present in questioning the accomplished counterfeiter throughout the country who has been passing the bogus notes. No man unknown to the banks and to large business firms in the country is the man on whom the petition on which Gov. Hill pardoned him on June 27, 1886, Bradford, who is also a physician, and has been a member of the Board of Education in Hoboken since 1870 for causing the death of Miss Victoria Connors, a pretty dressmaker. He was convicted and sentenced to four years in prison.

At the preliminary hearing of the gang the other day the woman, Mrs. Abby L. Smith, was held in $50,000 bond, while Brockway, Sidney Smith, and William H. Wagner, who were the head-quarters, came from Boston. Wagner, who

The ninety-nine-year lease on the Lindell Hotel property was canceled Friday and the property purchased outright for $532,500. At the same time a loan of $450,000 was made on the property, the whole deal aggregating nearly $1,000,000.

This report caused a sensation on the street Friday. It was the largest deal closed here for years, added to this the fact that the loan was made at 4 1/2 per cent interest, caused a stir in banking and business circles. There has been talk about cheap money in St. Louis and the loan at that figure clearly demonstrated the truth of the reports.

The Lindell Hotel property ownership has been a cause of uncertainty for some time. Messrs. Howe & Chassagne had a ten-year lease on the property which was due to expire in '96. But it is said that the lessees have given up the lease to the Boston Grand Hotel Company. Wm. C. C. Cottrell, Wm. Minot, L. Minot and Chas. F. Adams, trustees. Later another deal was closed whereby the Eastern capitalists comprised the Boston Hotel Company and a ninety-nine-year lease on the property. The hotel recently passed from the management of the Boston Hotel Company to Messrs. Brady & Donovan, who purchased the furnishings, etc., and it is said were otherwise interested in the Washington Realty Company, which purchased the property Friday.

Chas. F. Turner, the well-known capitalist, has recently taken an interest in the big deal, which the conservative agents say will have a good effect on the market here. Mr. Anderson of Anderson & Wade stated yesterday that he had been in touch with the Boston Hotel Company, which has been in existence for six years, and that there were millions of dollars to loan here at 4 and 4 1/2 per cent, and Mr. Turner's statement was to the effect that a fact.

BEWARE OF BAD ADVICE.

The Post-Dispatch believes that the members of the old State Committee will, on calm reflection, realize that the only course for them to pursue as Democrats is to accept as gracefully as possible the principle of majority rule as exemplified in the action of the Perle Springs convention. They are pretty certain to do this unless they listen to bad advice, and there will be no lack of this if they show a disposition to listen.

Ex-Judge Priest, for example, suggests quo warranto proceedings, citing the new members of the committee to appear in court and show cause why they are usurping the rights of the regular committee. There is no reason to suppose that such a proceeding would hold in law, but even if it did it would be fatal politically to whoever resorted to it. One or two men would be held responsible for such an attempt to thwart and defeat the will of the majority, and the wrath of the Democrats of the State would effectually blight any hope these men might entertain of future recognition or preferment.

Still more foolish is the advice to appeal to the National Committee. If the issue were raised, the question as to which is the regular committee would be determined long before it could reach the National Committee. It would be determined by the county committees.

That one of the State Committees whose call the county committees obeyed would exercise the authority of the State Committee. It is practically certain that there are not five counties in the State that would extend any recognition or obedience to the old State Committee if it should raise the banner of revolt against the State Convention. It is equally certain that more than a hundred of the county committees would ratify the convention's action by obeying the call of the reorganized committee. In this case as in the other, even if some way could be found for the intervention of the National Committee, the man or men appealing to it to defeat the Democratic majority in the State would have no political future.

The State Committee has been reorganized by a regularly called State Convention having full power. It will stay reorganized. And with as little delay as possible the reorganized committee should take up the work of organizing the party in the State for an active campaign next year.

THE CHINESE OUTBREAK.

Latest news from China is alarming and indicates that the civilised powers must intervene promptly and vigorously if repetitions of the Hwasang butchery are to be prevented.

The details of the shocking murders at the Hwasang mission as given by Dr. Gregory point to an organised conspiracy in which officials are implicated. The indiscriminate slaughter of men, women and children and the news of riots and outrages elsewhere show that the trouble is not local, nor prompted by particular animosity, but is a general conspiracy formed for the extermination of all foreigners.

Although it was known that an attack was contemplated on the Hwasang mission, the officials took no steps to prevent it. They responded reluctantly to demands for investigation and protection. It is probable that they are countenancing if not promoting attacks on foreigners to divert popular hostility from themselves.

The conclusion of the Post-Dispatch when the news of the massacre first came, that no foreigner in China is safe is fully confirmed. Our demand for swift and vigorous intervention is emphasized.

No matter what steps were taken by Minister Denby or what instructions were sent him previous to the Hwasang outrage, they appear to have been ineffectual—instant preparation should be made for emergencies and Minister Denby and Naval Commander Carpenter should be instructed to proceed to extremes if necessary for the protection of life.

It is evident that the Chinese need another lesson in civilization.

NEVER UNTIL NOW.

The Democratic party of Missouri has never until now had any dispute within its ranks over silver and gold as to the money of the Constitution.

In 1844, when the Whigs decided to run the campaign, the Democrats determined to fight out among themselves the question whether silver and gold should be the circulating medium of the country, or the currency be an increase of paper, based upon those metals.

Silver and gold won by a large majority and John S. Phelps and Sterling Price were elected to Congress on the hard money side.

That is the only time the Missouri Democracy has had monetary fight within its own ranks. It has been threatened on occasions with defections because of a small demand for increased greenback circulation, but it has an unbroken record of adherence to silver and gold as the lawful and proper money of the country.

Every Missouri Democrat who favors honest bimetallism has a right to feel, therefore, that he is a sturdier, stronger and better Democrat than the man who advocates the single gold standard.

THE GOLDEN POLITICAL RULE.

Expressing surprise in behalf of the gold standard Democrats in Kentucky, that free silver Democrats should dare to elect free silver candidates to the Legislature on free silver platforms, the Louisville Courier-Journal remarks that the gold men thought the issue settled by the State convention, and adds:

They did not doubt that the majority, having been fairly beaten, would observe the indispensable party rule and acquiesce in the will of the majority.

As John Sherman, with the official patronage of Ohio at his command for twenty-five years, has not been able to obtain a presidential nomination, he might very well come out as a champion of civil service reform.

This is the time of year when the upper berth of the sleeping-coach is working passengers for as much money as is asked for the lower berth. Compared with the iniquitous upper berth the sleeping-car porter is tolerable.

Abuse of the leading Democratic editors of Missouri will not help the organ out of its predicament. It has been caught on the wrong side of the fence and all good Democrats are leaving it to a well-deserved fate.

Murderer Holmes doubtless feels that a man whom children love and to whom women flock can ill be spared by the world, but he must admit that the clouds are very black above him.

The organ has developed the fact that Bland and Stone were at Perle Springs in the interest of a principle and not for office. To the organ this is a suspicious circumstance.

The old Missouri Democratic Committee was given plenty of time to do the fair thing. If the people took matters into their own hands, the committee can only blame itself.

It would be rather amusing if the pug crowd should go to Indian Territory to pull off the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight and be held up by some of the fugitive settlers.

Frost warnings are to be sent here from Washington, but they will hardly be of the kind forwarded to the capital by the Missouri Democrats from Perle Springs.

Why should there be a four-cornered debate on the money question at the Lone Jack picnic? Lone Jack has seen enough slaughter and distress in its time.

There is no lack of Democratic timber for a Governor in Missouri, and Presidential timber is scarcely likely to run next year in the United States.

The composer of "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp" is dead, but the author of "Sweet Marie" still lives and prospers. Death loves only shining marks.

There is complaint that Atty.-Gen. Harmon has too many fool friends. But in the Cabinet there are others who have friends of the same sort.

From the Kansas City World.

Col. C. H. Jones of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch did not go as a delegate to the Perle Springs Convention because he does not believe that a journalist should be put in the attitude of accepting political "recognition." That is a mighty good position to take, and it doesn't hurt the influence of the paper whose editor sticks to it.

Speaker is poorer than Mayor Davis, but with Boss Tilly on his side the Speaker and the boys are in the majority.

There was no lack of inclination on the part of the goldite managers to make a fight in Missouri. They simply saw from the first that public sentiment was overwhelmingly against them and they naturally believed that an open fight would make their minority too conspicuous.

"I believe in sound money," says Col. Morrison of Illinois. Everybody believes in sound money, but the Colonels' kind has been repudiated by the Democrats of Illinois, Missouri, Mississippi and Texas. Where, then, is the Colonels' boom for himself as the needed Western man?

Campbell in Cuba is trying to make out that the Cuban cause is dying out and the gold monometallists are striving just as hard to make out that bimetallism is expiring in the United States. But neither Campbell nor the monometallists have succeeded in fooling anybody.

Senators Ingalls found three students at Dartmouth College who were "totally unacquainted with the system and methods of government of the country in which they live." How many Republican politicians of Kansas are in the same fix?

The alarm of the press lest the new woman of the Kansas City stock yards shall go down to business in red bloomers is without reason. Missouri girls are fully acquainted with the prejudices of the animal kingdom.

Vice-President Stevenson's assertion that Cleveland would positively decline a renomination to a third term may be based more upon hope than evidence. There is no record yet of Mr. Cleveland ever having declined anything.

As John Sherman, with the official patronage of Ohio at his command for twenty-five years, has not been able to obtain a presidential nomination, he might very well come out as a champion of civil service reform.

They did not doubt that the majority, having been fairly beaten, would observe the indispensable party rule and acquiesce in the will of the majority.

As John Sherman, with the official patronage of Ohio at his command for twenty-five years, has not been able to obtain a presidential nomination, he might very well come out as a champion of civil service reform.

But what are the facts? While insisting upon the acquiescence of the majority in the gold standard States the gold men are insisting upon the submission of the majority to the minority in silver States. They demand that the majority refrain from imposing its will on the minority on peril of a party bolt.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is to be thanked for another beautiful illustration of the inconsistency of the Democratic allies of Wall Street.

WONDERFUL INSANITY EXPERTS.

In his testimony in the Daetrich trial, as reported in the Republic, Dr. Jerome K. Bauduy, one of the defense's experts, stated that in his twenty-four years of experience as a neurologist he estimated that he had had medical care of about 3,000 patients.

A rough examination of this statement shows that the defense has secured in Dr. Bauduy a professed insanity expert. In order to have had the care of 3,000 patients in twenty-four years it would be necessary for Dr. Bauduy to have received 125,000 new insane patients a year or 324 every day in a life year, Sunday included. If Dr. Bauduy gave ten hours every day of unremitted labor to his new cases he would have to diagnose and prescribe for about thirty-four cases every hour. In other words in a ten-hour day he took care of a new patient in less than every two minutes, and by working every minute in the twenty-four hours he could only give five minutes to each new patient, not counting the old patients.

At this rate of patients it is easy to demonstrate that the profession of neurologist is the most lucrative business known. If Dr. Bauduy received an average of only $10 a patient, which, according to the testimony of experts, would be a mere pittance, he has enjoyed an income of $1,250,000 a year, which should make him a millionaire thrice over in twenty-four years. In fact, his whole time would be more than consumed counting his hours.

But marvelous as Dr. Bauduy's endurance and experience and compensation must have been in his twenty-four years of extraordinary labor, that is not the most marvelous feature of his work. The amazing thing is where he found his patients. According to the census reports in the year 1880 there were only 1,113 insane persons in the city of St. Louis; there were less than 3,000 in the whole State of Missouri, and in the United States 106,000 insane of all kinds; chronic and acute, new and old. Dr. Bauduy, therefore, had to exhaust the world for fresh insane patients or secret insanity prevails to an enormous extent. One-fifth of the entire population of St. Louis would have to go mad every year to supply Dr. Bauduy with his yearly quota of patients.

Such a man as Howell E. Jackson was easily leave a large vacancy in a plutocratic body such as the Supreme Court is.

New York is very apprehensive that the St. Louis contractors have secured a good thing in their asphalt pavement bid.

WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUISANS.

JUSTICE JACKSON'S DEATH.

The Funeral Will Take Place Next Sunday Afternoon.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 9.—As announced in these dispatches last evening, Howell Edmunds Jackson, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, died at his residence at West Meads, six miles west of this city, at 2 o'clock, in the 64th year of his age, of consumption.

The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it is expected that it will take place next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Jackson has been in failing health for the past four years, but never took to his bed until a week ago last Wednesday. Since that his wife and friends saw that he was near, and his death was not unexpected.

MOB WORK IN CHINESE CITIES.

American Missionary Chapel Attacked and Looted.

FOREIGNERS NOT PROTECTED

Unflinching Signs That an Anti-Christian Crusade Has Been Planned.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.—The Department and the Chinese Legation are in receipt of no additional news from China on the situation at the missions. The New York World's cable from Foo Chow was shown to the officials of the Navy Department, but they had no advices from there. The World's cable, dated yesterday, says:

"A mob has just looted the American mission chapel at Inghok, fifty miles from here. Unless prompt, effective action is taken there is danger of great riots in other places. The Chinese soldiers sent to Ku Cheng to protect foreign property planned to burn the Stewart residence. No American gunboat has come here. The situation is critical on our way to this city from Ku Cheng. We know nothing. There is no American protection. The Government's neglect is infamous. The evidence already obtained shows that the massacre at Hwang was planned at the start. The hand. The foreign Consul has the names of the leaders in it, and some of the participants."

SAW THE MASSACRE.

Story of Miss Hartford, One of the Survivors.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The World's correspondent at Foo Chow cables the story of the Hwang massacre, told by Miss Mabel C. Hartford, one of the survivors. Her statement follows:

"Aug. 1, at 7:30 a. m., I heard shouts. They were yells of servants, who rushed in, shouting. I was in bed. The servants were coming, tearing down the houses on the hill where I was. I ran down the road, and a mob followed me along, until I got up on the side of the hill. I then lay down there to get more breath. After running a short distance, I lay down again, and lay there. All this time the yells went on and two houses were burning to the ground. After a while the yells stopped. I saw that the servants had been killed. A servant went to see how matters were. He returned in half an hour, telling me to come home; that five ladies of the English mission had been killed. He was wounded, but that my house, a rented native house, had not been troubled. I went home to find it burning. I ran through the house and found it all over. Mildred Stewart, 12 years old, knelt out and bleeding very hard; Herbert Stewart, 6 years old, cut in two; and Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Baby Stewart, with one eye black and swollen; the second Stewart girl, Kathleen, 11 years old, with the second boy, Evan, 3 years old, were also severely injured. They were not seriously injured. The boy vomited all day, but we thought it was from fright."

Mr. Phillips of the English mission, who lives in a native house some distance away, escaped all injury, only arriving in time to see the bodies of the dead and hear the servants say: "We have killed all the foreigners."

"At first we heard that some robbers had escaped and were after Mr. Stewart, and we fled. And we feared the worst. Mr. Phillips went to the ruins and found eight bodies, five not burned, and three burned to a cinder."

"Dr. Gregory arrived at dark and dressed the wounds of the patients. Coffins were made and the bodies were put in boxes. The bodies of the burned were put in boxes."

"Another burned body was found, making nine bodies, all men. Murdered—R. G. Stewart and his wife, Mrs. Baby Stewart, 11 years old, and Mrs. Saunders, Topsy Saunders of Australia, who lived in the upper house, called the Stewart house. These were of friends of Herbert Stewart, Mildred Stewart of England, and Annie Gordon of Australia."

"The first four were buried beyond the city limits of Foo Chow, out of the town and was killed outside. These were thrown down the embankment and beat him nearly severally from her side. Annie Gordon's head was nearly cut off."

"The bodies were put in coffins, and we left Hwang for Subow, about 4 o'clock Friday morning, Aug. 2, reached Subow about 8 a. m., Saturday, and telegraphed to Foo Chow for a steam launch. We left Subow about 10 a. m., and met a steam launch going toward Foo Chow taking soldiers. We engaged it to take us to Foo Chow. Soon we heard a report of a gun shot, and a launch. The party consisted of the United States Marshal and two English missionaries, bringing full supplies for the survivors."

"When I was thrown down my teacher's wife called on some Hwang men around me. They were all dead. They were not only one Vegetarian, but they would not help me. I came and tried to pull me away as I was beating me. The Vegetarian said to me, 'You are not the man who beat me. I started down the hill to come to our house three or four times. Chances so late at night are not possible. There were about sixty Vegetarians, who only saw me, the man who attacked me, who only saw me. Here I am, and they have not spoken and guns fired off. The natives say there were hundreds of shots fired. Wong, the Ku Cheng magistrate, came to see the English missionaries, and said to me, 'I am going to Sedals to work. I have a letter from my employer,' said the frightened prisoner."

"The World's report was also the first information here of the journey of a resounding of the Hwang, or of the proven responsibility of the provincial authorities for the massacre."

The special dispatches of the Times and of other papers have stated that denunciations had been committed upon the ladies of the mission.

BRITANNIA ROW.

Changes of Professionalism May Disrupt the Association.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 8.—The decision in the Minnesota and Winnipeg Rowing Association over the charges of professionalism made against Hackett and De Brisey of the Rat Portage (Ontario) Club is likely to lead to the breaking up of the association, and the formation of a new one with Rat Portage left out.

The regatta events this afternoon and tomorrow will be rowed by the Minnesotas of St. Paul under protest. If these protests, in case of any victories by Rat Portage, are not allowed, the Minnesotas will withdraw and form the nucleus of a new association.

MODERN RIFLE BULLETS.

They Make Clean-Cut Wounds That Are Hard to Heal.

The modern military small-bore rifle, with its armored bullet with a mantle of steel, copper and tin, has made possible a process of evolution into the details of which we need not here enter. The reduction in caliber has gone on steadily, and the bullet has become so small that it has yet been reached. Italy and Roumania have adopted a caliber of no more than .22 inch, the American military is to be armed with a rifle of only .303-inch caliber, and Krucka and Hebler have obtained ballistic results with a bullet of only .180 of an inch, a caliber which is unapproachable by projectiles of larger size. Practically now the armies of all the civilized nations are armed with weapons whose caliber is under .35 inches or 8 mm.

In great measure our knowledge of the surgical results of this marked reduction of the size of the bullet is based on the results of experiments on the bodies of men and animals. At all times the character of a wound depends on the weight, form, density and velocity of the projectile, and on the hardness or resistance of the part hit. The comparatively large, soft bullets of the past, when they struck bone, arrived at a relatively moderate velocity, produced wounds with the character of which most medical men are familiar. But the new small, sharp, incisive, increased range, velocity and penetrability, with hard-hunted bullets, introduce new factors of importance from the surgical point of view.

The softer and larger-bore bullets produce wounds characterized by a broad zone of devitalized tissue about the point of impact, and by a large amount of tissue, the easily deformed ball, extensively splintered bones, great explosive action, an absence of exit, moderate and galling effect, and with relatively little hemorrhage.

In the case of direct hits the action of the new bullets may be summed up by saying that they inflict clean, sharply-lacerated wounds of the soft parts, exert less explosive action, and splinter and displace bones less, except at short ranges.

The bullet offers the best possible conditions for rapid and perfect healing, being small, acute as a rule, and clean cut, but prone to suppuration.

At long ranges, toward the end of their flight, these long, thin, bullet tend to somersault, and by striking sideways, often produce extensive splintering and destruction of bone. Indirect and ricochet hits with these new and mantled bullets are especially feared, as the bullet, when any hard substance is sure to split the mantle, and the naked and deformed bullet then acts like the hollow-point bullet of the past, except that it is much which may cause protective works to lose much of their value when attacked by troops armed with the new rifles.

The increased explosive action given to the new bullet by increased velocity is more than counterbalanced by their lesser weight and by their deformed, and hence explosive action is, on the whole, less marked and less uniformly shown than that of the older kind. It occurs chiefly in the small, sharp, incisive, which may be connected with the bones.

In respect of action on bones, especially long bones, it is probable that these new bullets are even more than those of man, have given us a exaggerated idea of the effects of the small bullets on the skull and bone. The effects of disfiguring and comminution are so severe that considerable actual experience is needed to enable us to form any opinion regarding the new arm of small caliber in any way minimizing the horrors of war.

JUST AN "ORNERY CUSS."

The Jury Regarded Badox as Too Cheap to Be Hanged.

Among the poor whites of Paquetank, N. C., lived Badox Newberry. Badox started out with the notion of "orneryness" that was colored and to some extent was good of industry in any direction was in adding to the "cussedness" that was born in him.

He was a thin-breasted, spindle-shanked, half-hairied, pinched-nose, goggle-eyed, bald-headed, and toothless old man, who knew the roosting places of all the chickens within a radius of five miles. Badox had a skimp existence as a purveyor of the dogs that infested his home. Badox had precisely the same number of each—twelve dogs and two half-pint puppies.

The Spring Valley police officials came in for a share of exorcism. Speeches denouncing the cussedness of the old man, and the police were enthusiastic throughout. H. T. Bowan was Chairman and Geo. D. Bowden, Secretary.

George Newell died at the family residence in Wiman place, Thursday. In the evening he will take place Saturday afternoon at the Winters Cemetery.

NEW YORK'S BABY BURGLAR.

He Is So Small That He Can Squeeze Between Window Bars.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The smallest burglar on record was brought into the Sixty-seventh Street station last night and lifted up and set on the desk before the Captain.

"Why, this is a baby," he exclaimed.

The burglar was a mite of a boy, who said he was 11 years old. He did not weigh sixty pounds. But he was caught red-handed and his captain may lead to the explanation. He had broken into a room and squeezed through the bars of a window in a butcher shop at 1078 Third Avenue last night. The burglar, a negro driver with a glass eye, took the money and went back through the window bars into the arms of a policeman. The bars are only four inches apart. The lad had been locked up at the station, because he could walk out between the bars of the grated door.

DENBY'S INSTRUCTIONS.

He Has Not Been Told to Demand the Prevention of Further Atrocities.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, C. C., Aug. 8.—It comes out clearly to-day that the only instruction to Minister Denby directed him to demand the punishment of the butchers of Hwassang and indemnity for the damage done. Not a word has been sent demanding the prevention of further atrocities. When it now appears to the world that that the Hwassang massacre is only the beginning of an outbreak which, if not checked, will make every foreigner in Korea a target in China, like a shambles or a Roman amphitheater in the days of Nero. So much for the State Department.

But there was another situation and talk covertly say that Minister Denby could do nothing for the protection of the missionaries who have not yet been attacked. He has been told to demand indemnity with a fleet and made an example of a couple of Chinese towns, just to give the Government a Peking, a foretaste of what ought to be done.

At the Navy Department, Acting Secretary of the Navy McAdoo said that so much depended upon Admiral Carpenter's discretion that no order had been sent him, believing that he will act thoroughly in harmony with Minister Denby at Peking.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 8.—Mrs. S. F. Hatch has come here all the way from Oklahoma to plead that the President will spare the life of her boy, Clyde Mattax, under sentence to be hanged in October for shooting a negro in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Hatch has been confined here during the progress of his various trials. The papers have been in the President's possession since July 1, and he has been considering them. Mrs. Hatch did not call at Grey Gables, but the President drove over to the Village and talked with her for half an hour. He has got up a strong interest and kindness and agreed to write to him when a decision had been reached. Mrs. Hatch will return feeling much encouraged.

MRS. YZNAGA'S ENGAGEMENT.

She Gets Her Divorce.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Fernandina Yznaga, who is now in Yankton, S. D., will be made to the public on Aug. 10. Mrs. Yznaga to Count Bela Zichy was confirmed to be the sixth month's residence necessary to begin their engagements within two weeks. As no answer to her letter has been entered, it is expected that she will win her case by default. Count Bela Zichy is now in Hungary on a tour of the Government. He will return to America within three weeks, if the divorce is granted, the marriage will take place. The couple will live abroad.

BRAZIL AND ITALY.

A Fight Which May Lead to Further Complications.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Herald correspondent in Rio Janeiro, Brazil, telegraphs that a serious fight occurred between Brazilians and Italians on the line of the railroad in course of construction between Providence and Victoria. A large number of Brazilians and a number of the railway men of Italians were killed. The encounter, it is feared, will have a very bad effect on the relations existing between Italy and Brazil, which are already strained.

and just as they were about to abandon hope they sighted the ship Dhwarr, from those on board and were soon on her decks. Four days later they were put aboard the Capac, bound for this port.

Decision in the Glazier Will Case in Arkansas.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 8.—The commission appointed by the Chancery court to decide the Glazier will case. About twenty years ago John B. Glazier came to Little Rock, leaving in Pennsylvania a wife and six children. His family heard nothing from him during his remaining years, and did not know what had become of him. After living in this city a few years Glazier married again.
He became the owner of a large tract of land in the country. He died in 1870, and his wife set up a claim for the estate.
John B. Glazier, at the time of his death, had a wife and a daughter, Mary A. Glazier.
She was the only child and the only survivor of the wife and six children.
Mary A. Glazier died in 1880, leaving a large tract of land in the name of her husband. The estate was sold to the state for $1,000, and the money was used to pay the debts of the estate.
